

World Beat Music Celebration and More... Creative Expressions Arts Initiative is Underway

Led by performing artist Christopher Carbone and energized by an uplifting mix of world music & songs, participants in the World Beat Music Celebration are kicking up their heels and exploring their self-expression. In this fall series of classes, participants are guided in a dynamic flow of movement, music and dance activities. The class is designed to help enhance individual expression, build community spirit and foster overall well-being. The end result, of course, is lots of fun!

World Beat Music Celebration is part of the year-long Creative Expressions Arts Initiative for people affiliated with Looking Upwards. Other exciting offerings this fall are a series of art classes at the Newport Art Museum and a children's music series. A high point will be The Creative Expressions Art Show, which is scheduled for early in 2007.
